Paragon Solutions Group, Inc. Opens Doors in Dallas
Fast growing Paragon continues its growth trend as it expands its territory to include Dallas, Texas

Denver, Co August 1, 2006 – Paragon Solutions Group, Inc. (PSG), Premier IBM Business Partner, today announced that the company has opened its doors for business in the Dallas Metro area. With a local team of A players in Dallas to match its counterpart at the Denver headquarters, the Dallas Paragon group is ready to provide the same excellent consulting and engineering services and products that Paragon has successfully delivered in Denver since 1989.

“PSG is just as committed to providing our customers in Dallas with the same unparalleled infrastructure services and solutions that we have delivered in Denver,” said Haydn Hirstine, Paragon’s CEO. “We always strive to hire highly motivated experts in their field for each position at Paragon, and I believe we have achieved this goal in Dallas.”

The Paragon Dallas office is located on the second floor of the Dallas IBM building and is complete with a customer technology center.

The Dallas Team

Chris Wolfe, Paragon’s new Executive Vice President, came to Paragon directly from IBM and will be leading the entire team of engineers, consultants and support staff in Dallas. Erik Melander joined the Dallas team as the VP of Services and is responsible for managing and growing Paragon’s services business in both Colorado and Texas. Mike Langlois is the team’s Sr. Systems Engineer.
